Designations:

Certified Financial Planner (CFP): CFP certificants must pass the comprehensive CFP Certification Examination, pass CFP Board's Candidate Fitness Standards, agree to abide by CFP Board's Code of Ethics and Professional Responsibility which puts clients' interests first and comply with the Financial Planning Practice Standards which spell out what clients should be able to reasonably expect from the financial planning engagement. In addition to completing courses that cover the financial planning topics required for CFP certification, a bachelor's degree (or higher), or its equivalent (in any discipline, from an accredited college or university) is required to attain CFP certification. The bachelor's degree requirement is a condition of initial certification; it is not a requirement to be eligible to take the CFP Certification Examination.

Chartered Life Underwriter (CLU) designation: issued from The American College. To earn the CLU designation, candidates must: (1) have three years of full-time business experience within the five years preceding the awarding of the designation; and (2) complete eight required courses and three elective courses representing an average study time of 400 hours. To maintain the designation, designees must complete 30 continuing education credits every two years.

Retirement Income Certified Professional (RICP): issued from The American College. To earn the RICP designation, candidates must have three years of professional experience and complete the education requirements (three required course, equivalent of 9 semester credit hours and final course exam for each course). To maintain the designation, the designees must complete 15 hours of continuing education every two years.

Chartered Special Needs Consultant (ChSNC®): issued from the American College of Financial Services. The American College of Financial Services provides financial services professionals with the technical, collaborative and quantitative skills necessary to help clients with special needs through the Chartered Special Needs Consultant (ChSNC) designation. The designation is targeted as an advanced designation for experienced and dedicated planners who want to serve this market. In addition to completing the coursework - two self-study courses and one live webinar capstone - a ChSNC designation holder must meet professional and educational experience requirements. Designees must adhere to The American College's Code of Ethics and complete 30 hours of continuing education every two years through The American College's recertification program.

OTHER BUSINESS ACTIVITIES

Insurance Agency Affiliations

Andrew Jaffee is also a licensed insurance professional. Implementations of insurance recommendations are separate and apart from Mr. Jaffee's role with Apollon. As an insurance professional, Mr. Jaffee receives customary commissions and other related revenues from the various insurance companies whose products are sold. Mr. Jaffee is not required to offer the products of any particular insurance company. Commissions generated by insurance sales do not offset regular advisory fees. This practice presents a conflict of interest in recommending certain products of the insurance companies. Clients are under no obligation to implement any recommendations made by Mr. Jaffee or the Firm.

In addition to the activities described above, your advisor is also engaged in the following business activities:

- Andrew Jaffee is the president of PlayToday! Foundation, non-profit, start date: 07/27/2016, oversee organization vision, fundraising, signer on organization bank account along with treasurer.

ADDITIONAL COMPENSATION

Andrew Jaffee has additional business activities where compensation is received that are detailed above.

SUPERVISION

Andrew Jaffee serves as an Advisor of Apollon and is supervised by Steven Mills, the Chief Compliance Officer. Mr. Mills can be reached at (843) 277-3287.

Apollon has implemented a Code of Ethics, an internal compliance document that guides each Supervised Person in meeting their fiduciary obligations to Clients of Apollon. Further, Apollon is subject to regulatory oversight by various agencies. These agencies require registration by Apollon and its Supervised Persons. As a registered entity, Apollon is subject to examinations by regulators, which may be announced or unannounced. Apollon is required to periodically update the information provided to these agencies and to provide various reports regarding the business activities and assets of the Advisor.
